

Welcome to the theatre

I am going to The Arts at Marble Arch: powered by TodayTix to see The Choir of Man. This is what the theatre looks like from outside.

Finding the entrance

I will go through the doors at the front of the theatre. There may be other people arriving at the same time.

Tickets and the Box Office

If I need help with my ticket, I can speak to someone at the Box Office. There may be a queue, so I might need to wait.

The foyer

Inside the theatre is an area called the foyer. I may see other visitors waiting and talking here.

Drinks and refreshments

There is a bar where people can buy drinks and refreshments. I do not have to buy anything.

Going into the auditorium

The auditorium is the room where I watch the show. I will go through the doors to enter it. A member of staff can help me find my seat.

Finding my seat

There are rows of seats facing the stage. I will sit in the seat shown on my ticket. Other people may be sitting nearby.

What I will see

The show is set in a pub. I will see performers singing, playing music and moving around the stage.

Lighting effects

During the show, some lights will flash and change quickly. The lights may change colour or become brighter during exciting moments.

Haze or smoke effects are sometimes used to create the atmosphere on stage.

If the lights feel uncomfortable, I can look away or leave for a break.

I can return when I am ready.

Sounds and atmosphere

I will hear loud live music, singing, tap dancing and foot-stomping.

Some parts may sound louder than others.

Other people may sing along, clap or cheer. I can join in if I want to, but I do not have to.

I can wear ear defenders or earplugs. If I need a break, I can leave and come back when I am ready.

Using the toilets

If I need the toilet, I can ask a member of staff where to go. The theatre has an accessible toilet too.

Taking a break

If I need a break, I can leave the auditorium during the performance. I am allowed to come back in when I feel ready. I can ask a member of staff for help.

People who can help

The theatre team is here to help me. I can ask a member of staff a question or tell them if I need assistance.

Alcohol on stage and the interval

During the show, performers pour and drink real alcohol on stage.

This is part of the performance.

The show lasts 2 hours and 5 minutes, including an interval.

An interval is a break in the middle of the show.

During the interval, I can stay in my seat, use the toilet or visit the foyer.

Then I can return for the rest of the show.

At the end of the show

At the end, the performers may come out to take a bow. People may clap, cheer or stand up. I can clap if I want to, but I do not have to. Then I can leave the theatre.
